

Disability Employment Services

Disability Employment Services help people with disability find work and keep a job.

Providers of Disability Employment Services are called DES providers for short. DES providers are a mix of large, medium and small, for-profit and not-for-profit organisations that are experienced in supporting people with disability as well as providing assistance to employers to put in place practices that support the employee in the workplace.

Disability Employment Services has two parts:

- Disability Management Service is for job seekers with disability, injury or health condition who need assistance to find a job and occasional support in the workplace to keep a job.
- Employment Support Service provides assistance to job seekers with permanent disability to find a job and who need regular, ongoing support in the workplace to keep a job.

2018 Changes to DES

From 1 July 2018, there will be changes to the DES program to help more people with disability, injury or a health condition find and maintain employment. This will provide greater choice about the services you will receive and who by.

To find who will be able to assist you achieve your employment goals, see your current DES provider, visit Centrelink, or keep an eye on the Department of Human Services Website:
